One of the best bargains ever offered in the way of securing an improved farm in Sonoma Valley is advertised in these columns to-day.

The property is situated one mile south of town and consists of fifty-five acres of highly improved farming land. Nine acres of vineyard and twelve acres of orchard. Both in full bearing. On the farm is a living spring of water, a good dwelling, barn and out-houses and every convenience of a model farm. Title perfect. This farm is offered for the low sum of $7,000. Ask any farmer in this valley if the property is worth the above sum and you will be answered that the property is cheap at that figure. For further particulars apply at this office.

Little Manuel, the "Indian" Sears' pretty and intelligent child, died on the 4th inst. after a long and extreme suffering from the effects of diphtheria. The other child's recovery is owing, in the opinion of Dr. Davis, to having been kept out of doors; an opinion substantiated by the statement of the eminent surgeon, Dr. Clifford Allbutt, that among the Irish peasantry those attacked with typhus who were put out to die often recovered.

Mrs. A. G. Anderson, while driving through El Verano a few days since accompanied by her little daughter Hazel and Mrs. Geo. Cumming, were run into from the rear by a butcher's wagon. Her carriage was overturned and a wheel broken. It was owing to the good behavior of her horses who stood still, while the butcher's horses kicked and plunged, that no bones were broken or lives lost. Moral: Beware of butchers on the King's highway.

THE WOOLLY APHIS.

A Sure Remedy for the Destruction of the Pest.

The woolly aphis, which is about one of the most troublesome and destructive of orchard pests, of late years has been getting in its work in this valley. A remedy for its destruction, both simple and cheap, has been successfully tried by Hon. Robt. Howe of Edna Dale, who has one of the largest fruit orchards in Sonoma Valley. The remedy is this: Simply whitewash all parts of the trees from the ground to the small branches with a wash, the same as it is used for ordinary whitewashing, with the addition of some strong wood ashes and a little salt, will effectively clean the trees of this pest and prevent their return. Besides this, whitewashing the trees will clean them of all other pests, moss, rough bark, prevent sun scalding and add greatly to the beauty of the trees.

The High School Question.

In another column will be found a communication on the Union High School in this place. The writer asks a number of pertinent questions which will no doubt be answered in these columns in future numbers by those who are interested themselves in establishing a High School in Sonoma. We will venture the opinion, however, that the recent High School election should have been held in conformity with the general election law of the State and not under the school law.

Sullivan, Charles C. Sullivan, L. J. Sullivan, Asa Isaac Sullivan, Amanda Jane Sullivan and Jabez Benjamin Sullivan. The property consists of a ranch of 117 acres of land highly improved and valued at $15,000.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

WIDE AWAKE.

Glen Ellen, Sept. 10, 1891.

He Didn't Advertise.

The wind blows through his whiskers in a listless, useless way, and on his flapping ears the drowsy flies do play. The ants are in his butter and the sugar in his hand, and he sits and snoozes idly, too lazy to stand. He sees the hurrying hundreds who with each other vie to reach his neighbor's storehouse, his tempting goods to buy. He sees the men who hurry all passing by his door, and idly, idly wonders why they never seek his store. He says, "The times are very dull; it's mighty strange to me that my neighbor gets the business while I get none, you see." Then the Sheriff comes and shuts his door and fills him with surprise, and he wonders how it happened—but he didn't advertise.—Stockton Mail.

A young wife in Georgia is about to sue for divorce on the ground of violation of the marriage contract. She alleges that when, before the marriage, she told her sweetheart she was willing to share his poverty and live on bread and water, he pledged his sacred honor that if she would furnish the bread he would hustle around and get the water. And so they were married, but hardly had the honeymoon ended before the collector came around and cut off the street pipe for non-payment of the water rent.

A man in Jefferson county, Ohio, who had a sick cow, wanted to get her up. Not being able to do so with his strength he fixed a blanket under her, attached his hay carrier and hitched on his old horse, which had not forgotten the distance he had to go to deliver the hay and didn't propose to stop short. He drew the cow up to the top of the barn, where the track carried her over an empty mow, when the blanket gave way and dropped her on the empty logs, breaking every bone in her body.

Deafness Can't be Cured.

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound and imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Workmen and Their Tools.
"Bad workmen," we are told, "let their tools do the talking." We might extend the significance of the axiom by stating that bad workmen make bad tools. We may satisfy our selves as to its truth by a cursory inspection of the kit carried by a poor mechanic. In the machine shop we shall find our saying conspicuously exemplified. A glance at the condition of the tools, to say nothing of the surroundings, will tell us whether good artificers or second rate workmen are employed—whether the shop turns out good or indifferent work.

The tanks of the tools has little to do with the settlement of the question. The finest machine tools ever designed may be ruined by ill usage, and in fact, as a general rule, the more perfect the finish the more susceptible it will prove to gross ill treatment. Moreover, a shop full of good tools ruined by ill usage or neglect is a much sorer spectacle to the experienced mechanic particularly than an aggregation of second quality implements in a similar condition, and, as a general rule, a poor tool spoiled will do as good a job as the most expensive machine that has undergone finish treatment.

The appearance of a tool will betray the hand of the workman, no matter how badly worn. Fair hand wear is altogether different in its effects from willful misuse or the neglect that is born of ignorance. A man may wear a tool out, and it will still have an altogether different look to one that has been deliberately and carelessly ruined.—Safety Valve.

Seeing and Knowing.
An eminent lord chief justice, who was trying a right of way case, had before him a witness—an old farmer—who was proceeding to tell the jury that he had "knowed the path for sixty year, and my fether told I as he heered my grandfether zey."
"Stop!" said the judge, "we can't have any hearsay evidence here!"
"No!" exclaimed Farmer Giles. "Then how dost know who thy fether was 'cept by hearsay?"

After the laughter had subsided the judge said, "In courts of law we can only be guided with what you have seen with your eyes, and nothing more or less."

"Oh, that be blowed for a tale!" replied the farmer. "I ha' got a bill on the back of my neck, and I never seed 'un, but I be prepared to swear that he's there, dang 'un!"
This second triumph on the part of the witness set in a torrent of hearsay evidence about the footpath which obtained weight with the jury, albeit the judge told them it was not testimony of any value, and the farmer's party won.—Irish Times.

A Queer Little Creature.
What a funny animal a mole is, is it not? It looks as if we were asleep. I suppose you know that the mole lives underground.

It makes a long burrow under the earth, finishing up by making a mound. You may frequently see these mounds in the country fields. The mole makes these underground passages in search of food. It devours all the worms and grubs it comes across.

Many farmers believe that the mole eats the roots of plants, etc., and therefore kill it.
Poor mole! it does nothing of the kind. It does just the opposite! It eats the grubs and worms that eat roots!

You would fancy that the mole, burrowing through the soil, would get dirty. It does not, however. No matter how you see a mole, his skin is always the same—quite clean.
Another silly thing people used to believe about moles was that they had no eyes! It has got eyes, but they are hidden by its hair. Truly enough, these eyes are not very good ones, but, anyhow, the mole can see.—New York Advertiser.

A Tribute to a Noble Animal.
No animal has been more worthy of the favor bestowed upon it than the horse. His grace and beauty, his gentleness and strength, his rare intelligence, to say nothing of his willing service, have made him known in every land and have given him an honorable place in song and story. As companions of gods and men he has shared with them untold dangers and brought them innumerable victories. He has decided the fate of kingdoms, trampled the mighty under foot, given strength to the weak and rescued the helpless.
He has been an important factor in church and state, in public and private life, in the arts, sciences and industries of every kind. If, as some affirm, his day of usefulness is passing away, yielding to steam, electricity and cycles in various forms, he will go on the retired list full of glory and sure of the immortality which he deserves.—Caroline K. Sherman in Chicago Herald.

Scarcity of Whalebone.
The whalebones which were once used for the hoopskirts, corsets and stays of the fashionable women, and which were often secured only at the sacrifice of brave men's lives, are being largely replaced by ordinary horn and composition invented by clever men. Whalebone grows scarcer and dearer every year. The annual product has fallen from about 1,000,000 pounds secured by the old time sailing vessels, with ancient appliances, to about 200,000 pounds, obtained by the modern whaling steamships with machines and guns. The price of whalebone has risen from a mere trifle to about five dollars a pound.—Mercer.

"August Flower"

Perhaps you do not believe these statements concerning Green's August Flower. Well, we can't make you. We can't force conviction into your head or medicine into your throat. We don't want to. The money is yours, and the misery is yours; and until you are willing to believe, and spend the one for the relief of the other, they will stay so. John H. Foster, 1322 Brown Street, Philadelphia, says:

"My wife is a little Scotch woman, thirty years of age and of a naturally delicate disposition. For five or six years past she has been suffering from Dyspepsia. She became so bad at last that she could not sit down to a meal but she had to vomit it as soon as she had eaten it. Two bottles of your August Flower cured her, after many doctors failed. She can now eat anything, and enjoy it; and as for Dyspepsia, she does not know that she ever had it!"

THE COWBOY KNOWS!

Trying to hold a drove of cattle together in a desolating rain means an amount of exposure which few can withstand without serious results. If sickness does not follow, it will be found that such hardship usually brings on rheumatism and similar complaints. As such times as a Fish Brand Slicker is needed, it is worth its weight in gold, and is valuable to any one exposed to stormy weather. For all such uses, you want a Fish Brand Slicker, which keeps the entire saddle, bridle, and cradle dry, and completely envelopes the rider from head to foot. He can't get wet, neither can his horse. And besides keeping him dry, it keeps him warm. Every range rider has one. Why shouldn't you? Beware of so-called imitations, every saddle stamped with "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accept any inferior ones when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" covered without extra cost. Particulars and illustrated catalogue free.

THE BRAVES OF '61.
A Wonderful Book made from the records of the War Department. COPIED BY THE PRESIDENT. T. P. Robinson. OF THE 27TH REG'T, now in the Union Army and Navy, 1861-5, a little less than 500 were especially recognized by the War Dept. as coming under the Act of Congress, July 12, 1862, for distinguished bravery, which gave them the United States Medal of Honor. Many of the stories told by the heroes themselves, of how they won the high distinction, are extremely interesting. Thus the records of these deeds are almost unknown to their countrymen, but he buried in the pigeon holes of the War Dept. and in the recesses of their own breasts, seem to be waiting for the day when they will be brought to the light of day. This book must find a wide sale, for it is full of incidents that will interest every old soldier in the land, and our boys will glory in it. It is a two-volume of over 500 pages, with nearly 1000 illustrations, and is a treasure for the war. The library of all who would not altogether forget the glorious past.
